THE LOSS OF THE DESPATCH. Lieut. Cowles and Lieut, Noel Explain the Cause of the Disaster.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.-The testimony of Lieut. Cowles, commander of the Despatch, and Lieut. Noel executive officer, before the Court of Inquiry to-day, showed that the los that yessel was due to mistaking Assateague Light for the Winter Quarter Shoal lights Lieut, Noel, who was navigating officer at the time the course of the vessel was changed, sale thought the Assatoague light was the Winter Quarter Shoal light, because it showed a red light. The lookout and the Quartermaster reported that it was a red light. He ther changed the course of the vessel south 40 de-grees west. He looked carefully all around to see if there was any other light visible, but there was none. The light he saw was visible 1) points to the starboard. The course determined upon by him, would carry the vessel in the direction of the Winter termined upon by him, would carry the vessel in the direction of the Winter Quarter Shoal lightship. As the red light turned out to be the Assateague light, the Winter Quarter Shoal lightship was he said, either off station, or it showed no light whatever, as a careful examination had assured him that there was no other light in sight. At 20 clock he was redeved by Lieut, and told him on reaching what he situation, and told him on reaching what he situation, and told him on reaching what he supposed was Winter Quarter Shoal lightship, to head the vessel for Cape Charles lightship, to head the vessel for Cape Charles lightship, to head the vessel for Cape Charles lightship, to head the vessel out shortly before 3 o'clock he was awakened by the ship grounding. Going on deck, Lieut, Neel said he saw the red light, and he could be ashore. The white light at Assateague locked much redder than the red lights carried by vessels.

Lieut, Neel said that although he had not seen the Assateague light show so red as in the time of the wreek, yet it always had a poculiar appearance, and never showed a clear white light. Several statements of skippers of vessels touching upon the Assateague light were then read. They were to the offset that the white light there often appeared red, even under favorable circumstances. One skipper regarded it as particularly unreliable.

THE CRUISER DETROIT AFLOAT. Launch of the First of the 3,000-Ton Ves-

BALTIMORS, Oct. 28.-The steel cruiser Detroit, the largest vessel ever constructed in a ltimore shipyard, was launched from the Colmubian Iron Works at 3:40 o'clock this afternoon. She was decked from bow to stern with the international code of signals. Flor-ence N. Maister, the 4-year-old daughter of the President of the Columbian Iron Works, christoned the vessel. It was expected that secretary Tracy would be present, but he did not arrive. There was a great crowd preseft the ways.

The Detroit is one of three sister ships of 2.000 time each, for which bids were accepted in November, 1885. This vessel is almost tuentical in displacement with the two Chillan cruisers recently built in France. Congress imited the cost of each of these three tossels limited the cost of each of these three tossels to $700,000 for a guaranteed speed of seventeen knots. An anti-wante of $100,000 will be made on each tesser should eighteen knots be made. The Detroit has wint is termed an open gun deck, the peap and forecastle decksising connected or a cruige extending for and aft. There is extended through the principal part of the vessel a controlline vertical cukhead, which not only helps to support the water tight deck, but made "eackbone" to the vessel.

water-tight deek, but made between to the vessel.

I specially interesting is the coffer-dam projection mixing the entire machinery space, which is to be filled with cellulose. The Detrait will be the first in the mavy to carry this water-excluding but, whose efficiency has been practically their in several navious and notating of late in the Daniel vessel Hekia. Celtul se is manufactured from the fibres of cocount limits and has the presently of absorbing eight times its weight of water. The French government power by tests that ships built with a liningset confuse would be practically unsinknow. There will be 500 ontic feet of collabore in the coffer dams in the Detroit.

Their bostgear, combined with their swkward behavior, attracted the attention of a policoman, who arrested then for mas-querading. The discomfitted and weeping girls were locked up and their friends at Buffalo notified. The girls intended to secure work in New York. They had only $13 be-sides their tickets.

Designs. Our new patterns for this season embrace a great variety of dinner and serving dishes in STERLING SILVER. Many of them have been made to harmonize in design with tea sets and other wares.

There has been no attempt to confine the designs to variations of some one or two styles. but the widest latitude was given our designers and the result is invariably pleasing to all tastes. This is particularly true of our Vegetable, Fish, and Double Dishes, as well as the large line of Compotes. Bread Trays, and Celery Dishes. A specialty to which we call attention is the large centre dish with four smaller companion dishes for the corners. It forms a set which can be utilized in many ways.

SPURIOUS CHECKS IN PATCHOGUE One Bears a Forged Certificate of Cashler

Three suspicious checks recently received by the Patchogue bank and bearing the endorsement of W. H. Geer, a former summer visitor, have given rise to considerable speculation in that vicinity. The first check re ceived was for $1.400. As shown on the face. It was drawn by R. B. Strong, who has no account in the Patchogue bank. There were two endorsements on the back, one of which was endorsements on the back, one of which was W. H. Geer. Following this came a check for $800, and another for $2.450. The latter check bore a forged certification of Cashier F. A. Overton of the Patchogue bank. Both these checks had neen deposited in the German National Bank in Denver by W. H. Geer. W. H. Geer and his family spont the summer of 1830 in Centro Moriches, where he bought a lot and Lulit a house. He was of a pleasant disposition, and made many friends. Both he and his wife took leading parts in a number of dramatic entertainments given in Ackerley's Music Hall. They attended St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Patchogue, where Mr. Geer sang in the choir. in the choir.

It was understood by his friends that he made considerable money in the Northwestern Life Insurance Company. On leaving Centre Moriches his friends understood he was going to Denver, Col., in the interests of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Letters received by the Patchogue bank say that Mr. Geer is still in Denver.

To Build this Fall, or to wait until Spring; your own judgment

There is no question about it. If you build this Fall, or you walt until Spring, you must have land to build upon. The Fall is the time to buy land. You had better settle the land question now; secure a lot; naturally land is cheaper now than in the Spring; make your first payment; in the Spring it will be paid for. We have a beautiful art-book of descriptive information, worth dollars to the home-secker, and a large [26 × 42] colored map of the most delightful suburban home-town. They are
